

Court Decides Custody of Children

LITTLE ROCK — The Arkansas Supreme Court today awarded A. D. Gentry, former Hot Springs cafe operator, custody of the two minor children of his late wife, Carolyn Cooke Gentry.

The decree, in one of two child custody cases decided by the court, rejected contentions of Miss Kathryn Cooke of Hot Springs that she should be allowed to care for her dead sister's children. A girl of 12 and a boy of nearly six.

The Supreme Court said Gentry, 45, married the now-dead woman in 1940. Both had been married previously.

The court said custody was in dispute whether Gentry had a legal divorce from his former wife at the time but that in any event Carolyn didn't get a divorce until July, 1949, when she died before she died of heart disease at Phoenix, Ariz.

Gentry claimed he was the father of each child, but the court said it did not consider it necessary to determine paternity.

The court said, however, that Gentry had cared for the children, that they are attached to him, that he is devoted to them and that he intends to care for them. No such ties exist between them and the Miss Cooke and it is inferred that she is acting through a sense of loyalty to her dead sister.

The decision was unanimous.

In the second custody case, the court in a divided opinion awarded seven-year-old Jimmy Bryant to his mother, Margaret, now Mrs. William Servens of Querétaro, Kas.

A decree of Quachita Chancery Court continuing custody in the child's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Maria Bryant, was reversed.

The lower court had ordered to enter a decree awarding custody to the mother, with the argument that she is acting through a sense of loyalty to her dead sister.

parents to have custody during summer vacations if they wish and with the father, James J. Bryant, to be allowed to visit his son at any reasonable time.

The Supreme Court said the present Mrs. Servens had allowed the child to remain in the grandmother's custody when she (the mother) was ill, that she now was able to care for the child, that she and her present husband want the child, and that Bryant, now of Corpus Christi, Tex., has indicated no interest in personal custody but merely wants the child to remain with his parents, who have four children of their own.

The prevailing opinion was written by Associate Justice J. S. Holt. Chief Justice Griffin Smith and Associate Justice Paul Ward dissented.

The Supreme Court upheld Quachita Chancery Court in its award of $350 to S. E. Gilliam El Dorado lawyer, against Henry Stevens for legal services. Stevens had appeared.

The Supreme Court agreed with Sebastian Chancery Court that Doris Elenia Townley was entitled to $247.64 — and not $1,000 — from the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States.

The dispute involved an insurance policy which Mrs. Townley carried on the life of her small daughter who died May 18, 1951.

Mrs. Townley sued for the full face amount of the policy; the company said under its provisions she was entitled only to the smaller amount.

The Supreme Court rejected the protest of Parthenon McKinney over the Mississippi Probate Court's allowance of $303.35 from the estate of her dead husband Will, to Charles Caldwell. Both courts found the payment was in settlement of a just indebtedness to Caldwell, who was executor of the estate.

Mr. Acheson Arrives in London

LONDON (UP) — Secretary of State Dean Acheson arrived from Washington today for critical conferences with other Western leaders on Germany, relations with Soviet Russia, the middle east, and the Far East, including Korea.

After his stay here, Acheson will fly to Berlin and Vienna, islands in Soviet-held territory, and then continue to Brazil for a total trip of 19,000 miles.

Acheson arrived at London airport at 2:21 p.m. (9:21 a.m. EST) in President Truman's personal plane Independence. He was accompanied by Mrs. Acheson, American Ambassador at Large Philip C. Jessup, and Assistant Secretary of State George W. Perkins.

Nottingham said 200 Red MIG jets were counted on the Communist airfield at Antung, Manchuria, within sight of the strikes on Japan. None of the MIGs challenged the fighter bombers, which were escorted by F-80 Sabre jets and Navy Panther jets.

The Air Force spokesman said it was hard to believe there were more than 200 MIGs because they were in the North Korean capital of Pyongyang and that parts of Manchuria were blocked out.

More than half of the more than 40 planes, which took part in the raid were American Air Force fighters and fighter bombers. No B-29 or B-29 bombers were used.

Japan is approximately 36 miles up the Yalu from Antung. Its power plants furnished all electric power for industrial centers in North Korea, including Pyongyang and Chongnam, and a considerable area of Manchuria.

The big air strike followed by a day raid by powerful Allied bombers of 1,000 to possibly more than 3,000 men into Chinese lines in western Korea. The attacks helped any U. N. force into Red territory since last fall.

Regardless of the Ike question, the States Right leaders would hope to pull more than 100 electoral votes away from the GOP and Democratic party tickets and throw the election of a president into the House.

The votes are supposed to come from Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, Arkansas, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia.

The second prospect is that the Republicans will nominate Eisenhower. Then the Democrats will welcome the Southern delegates and compromise on civil rights.

Absenteeism May Delay Controls Vote

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON — Absenteeism appeared likely today to be a decisive factor in control House voting this week on price control legislation.

It may determine whether last week's tentative vote virtually ending all economic control after June 30 will be set aside or made final.

Administration leaders were hopeful they could persuade more Democrats to be on the job and remain on hand Wednesday and Thursday when the decision voting is due.

Only 214 of the 432 House members were present last Friday afternoon when the House tentatively adopted an amendment by Rep. Talle (R-Iowa) to end control on everything not allocated or rationed at the consumer level.

Price Administrator Ellis Arnall told a late Saturday news conference the amendment would make the controls law a completely unworkable "monstrosity." He said, if it becomes law, he would recommend complete scrapping of price controls.

Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam said lifting of controls would cause prices on consumer goods to soar so high current prices would look like bargains.

The House also voted, subject to States Rights leaders say.

The States Righters are recognized within the state as the regular Democrats, but loyal-to-Truman faction, built around Mrs. John Clark of DeKalb, Miss., will challenge that recognition.

Mrs. Clark's group functioned for a few months as the nationally recognized state Democratic machinery until some of its adherents were indicted for pending federal jobs for cash.

Superliner Eases Toward New York Dock

NEW YORK (UP) — The new first lady of the seas, the trim, speedy superliner United States, eased toward her New York dock today amid colorful fanfare.

A flotilla of destroyers, Coast Guard cutters, merchant ships and small craft escorted the United States toward the New York River pier where it will tie up to complete its maiden shake-down week ago.

Airplanes swirled through the sky overhead as the $74,000,000 luxury liner steamed at a slow four-knots an hour past Brooklyn (69th Street) just before noon on its way to the shelter of the North River.

The mighty queen arrived at the nation's busiest harbor at 9:28 a.m. today and entered quarantine at 10:40.

The tumultuous welcome prompted the trim new merchant ship began almost as soon as the vessel entered the harbor.

Scores of ships sounded their whistles and dipped their colors in acknowledgment. A welcoming party, headed by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, boarded the liner as it approached the quarantine station.

But a boiling controversy followed in the wake of the ship as it raced toward the New York harbor on a speedy two-and-a-half day trip from Newport News, Va.

President Truman ordered Attorney General James P. McGranery Friday to learn if legal action could be taken against the United States Lines, its owner, since the ship had been subsidized by the federal government.

Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer, one of the 1,300 guests on this shake-down cruise, yesterday called Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren a "Monday morning quarterback" for his "silly and Berlin (UP) — British troops backed by armored cars took positions along the border of the Soviet occupation zone today after the Russians freed 43 Germans who had been kidnapped into East Germany yesterday.

The Reds freed the kidnapped Germans this morning and also withdrew from a strip of British territory the Russians grabbed a week ago.

Armored West German police moved to the area, near Schoenberg, west of Berlin, after the kidnapping victims were freed and the strip of territory evacuated.

Then British infantrymen packed by six armored cars of their 11th Armored Division, took up positions 600 yards behind the border.

The entire area was tense. Germans feared the Russians and the Communist "people's police" would return and that an armed clash might result.

A West German police lieutenant in the border-guard force said: "We are going to maintain our positions."

American troops from a mill town in Berlin's Communist skirts actually had been freed by the American army. Forty-two of the 43 West Germans set free by the Reds, were seized at gunpoint by 1,000 Soviet troops and 30 East German police in a raid across the border into the British zone at Schoenberg, due west of Berlin, yesterday.

Ten other West Germans escaped the kidnapers in a hail of bullets from East German police machine guns. All 52 West Germans taken in the raid were freed by the British side of the front.

Following a British protest to Soviet authorities, East German police brought the 42 men and an armoured seized with their locomotive the same area yesterday to border early today and released them.

The freed men said they been taken to the Soviet zone near station of Marienborn, opposite Helmstedt. They said they were well treated and were not threatened by the Russians or East German police.

WHEN YOU TRY POWER STEERING... HERE'S WHERE TO COME FIRST!

Take a look at it and read about it. Now, if you haven't felt what Power Steering does for you, we invite you to try it first in a Chrysler New Yorker... where you will find full-time (not partial) Power Steering! What happens is this...

You handle the steering wheel in normal fashion. But 4/5 of all the work is done for you by hydraulic power, constantly at your command. Also, you turn the wheel 1/3 less distance now for every maneuver... the feeling you get of utter control is as wonderful as it is new.

Even at a standstill you can turn the wheel easily. Now, parking is almost of its troubles (and fatigue)... and you can negotiate traffic, awkward drives, and garage doors precisely and with ease.

You can double the longest day's drive you've ever known... end up free from arm and shoulder strain. Rough roads, soft shoulders, snow, mud?... the power that helps you steer now prevents the car's wheels from "steering back" at you. The course you set is held, at any speed, till you want it changed. Yet, with this 5-times greater control, "wheel feel" is always the same.

Why not come try it? Learn for yourself why growing thousands of motorists say they'll never be without Full-time Power Steering from now on. Drive a Chrysler... and Learn the Difference!

AMERICA HAS YET PRODUCED

Suggests U. S. Abandon Scrap Laws

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential board today recommended that the United States scrap laws which prevent other nations from selling America the raw materials she needs for war and peace.

The United States should make a cellar-to-attic search—at home and abroad—for sources of materials, said a formal report by the President's Materials Policy Commission.

This country already is unable to supply her own needs, the board said, and by 1975 may be compelled to import one-fifth of the material it consumes. The report recommended that stockpiling be put on a permanent basis.

The commission after 18 months' research, said it is seriously concerned—but not "alarmed"—over the shrinkage of America's natural resources.

In the face of foreseeable demand for the next 25 years, the report said, this shrinkage is a definite threat to the nation's living standards and national security.

The group labeled the high tariff system obsolete and said the Buy-American Act of 1933 is "a relic of depression psychology... a self-imposed blockade."

It proposed that the government be given power to cancel tariffs whenever the need for a foreign material becomes critical.

The Buy-American Law forbids federal purchasing overseas unless U. S. supplies are unreasonably priced or inadequate in quantity or quality. A more lenient law even stockpile-buying unless the domestic price is 25 per cent above the foreign market.

The commission recommended that the federal government undertake a long-range program of resources discovery and development here and overseas. Among other things, it proposed that the states and private firms be offered financial incentives to seek out new sources of materials and to conserve available natural resources.

The report mentioned such incentives as special tax benefits to prospectors in this country and abroad.

The five-man commission headed by William Paley, chairman of Columbia Broadcasting System, urged that Congress pass a score of new laws.

Through five bulky volumes delivered to President Truman the Paley commission hit one recurrent note: America cannot go alone on its materials policy.

The situation is less a matter of dwindling resources than a problem of economic growth, the report said.

The commission predicted that by 1975 the need for raw materials would increase 50 to 60 per cent—to support a doubling of national production and a population growth of 42 million, to a total 103 million persons.

The report said the problem can be met only by co-operation with the other free countries, whose rate of growth probably will outstrip our own.

The commission offered as the major premise of its report:

"The overall objective of a national materials policy for the United States should be to insure an adequate and dependable flow of materials at the lowest cost consistent with national security and with the welfare of friendly nations."

The commission proposed the restoration of the National Security Resources Board—which it said now has few active functions—to its originally intended role as the government's center of research and policy-making in the materials field.

The report criticized the lack of a present overall head of federal research and suggested that the National Science Foundation be given broad co-ordinating authority. The report said:

"The spectacle of the government spending 1,800,000,000 of the national total of $2,900,000,000 (spent on research annually) with so little top direction is somewhat breathtaking."

Sweeping increases in demand for materials, which in many cases already are becoming scarcer and costlier, were foreseen for the next 25 years as follows:

Metals—Demand for iron, copper, lead and zinc may rise only 40 to 50 per cent, but other consumption will soar. Demand for fluorspar, used principally in steel making, will increase by 300 per cent, aluminum by 400 per cent, magnesium by 1,800 to 2,000 per cent.

Timber—depleted forests will create a "serious situation," though consumption may rise only 10 per cent—perhaps the least of all materials.

Energy—Electric power must rise 260 per cent to sustain a doubled total output; demand for liquid fuels will more than double for natural gas will triple. Coal demand will climb 60 per cent and the commission predicted:

"All signs point to a re-emergence of coal in stronger and stronger demand, as supplies of petroleum and natural gas inevitably begin to decline and grow more costly."

The inadequacy of domestic output, now running 10 per cent behind total demand for materials, was pictured as a defense problem.

The Paley report noted that, of 74 materials now on the stockpile list, the United States must import its entire supply of 40 and part of the supply of all the other 34.

Taft Uncertain on Backing of Committee

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio said today he isn't at all certain his followers will have a majority on the vital credential committee of the Republican National Convention.

The credentials group will recommend the action to be taken on the seating of contested delegates, now one of the principal issues between Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in their battle for the GOP presidential nomination.

Each state delegation to the Chicago convention names two members of the credential group. While some of his backers have claimed Taft will have a majority of the votes in more than half of the states, the Ohioan said that doesn't mean the committee will be stacked in his favor.

"There are all shades of political opinion represented among the credential members who already have been chosen," Taft told a reporter. "I don't think anyone can say that the committee will be controlled."

Contests over delegations don't get to the credential group until after the Republican National Committee has ruled on them. Then, the credentials committee is restricted by convention rules from taking any new testimony. They can only pass on evidence brought before the national group.

A majority of national committee members are generally regarded as favoring Taft's candidacy. This, plus the naming of Taft supporters to key positions in the nominating convention, has led Eisenhower's backers to charge a "steamroller" is being prepared against them.

Eisenhower himself charged further in a Saturday address at Dallas, Tex., that the Taftites had stolen the Star State delegates from his camp.

The senator didn't name Taft but there was no question he referred to the fight between his supporters and the senator's for the Texas delegation's 38 votes.

In this case, Eisenhower said, the rustlers stole the Texas birthright instead of Texas steers.

Taft forces hit back in a stationery yesterday denying there was any delegate-stealing and likening the protests from the Eisenhower camp to a prize fight manager's yelling, "We wuz robbed."

The Eisenhower camp has said it will carry to the convention floor a fight over the Texas delegation.

Hamilton Is Solid in PGA Title Picture

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bob Hamilton, carefree and cocky, moved solidly into the PGA title picture today with a razor-sharp "hold up" that he expected would "hold up all the way."

The hard-hitting Hoosier, the only former PGA champ left in the quarterfinal field, assured all comers he was very much in the mood to repeat in the manner that astounded Byron Nelson in 1944.

Hamilton and Chick Harbert from Northville, Mich., were the hottest shooters in yesterday's third round.

They survived with one-sided victories and joined these other prime stroke masters in the quarterfinal lineup:

Gred Haas, Jr., a pro circuit regular from New Orleans; Frank Champ, a driving range pro from Houston; Clarence Doser, from Hartsdale, N. Y.; Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist; Jim Turnesa, from Briarcliff Manor, N. Y.; and Ted Kroll, another sharp-shooting New Yorker from New Hartford.

In today's 36-hole matches over the 6,620-yard Big Spring Course, it was Hamilton against Champ, Harbert against Haas, Doser against Turnesa and Middlecoff against Kroll.

Hamilton was at his peak yesterday as he plastered the veteran

SECTION 1. Commission Created — Members — Powers. There is hereby created a State Highway Commission which shall be vested with all the powers and duties now or hereafter imposed by law for the administration of the State Highway Department, together with all powers necessary or proper to enable the Commission or any of its officers or employees to carry out fully and effectively the regulations and laws relating to the State Highway Department.

SECTION 2. Qualifications and Appointment of Members — Terms of Office of First Commission. Within ten days after the convening of the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas in the year 1953, the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint five persons who are qualified electors of the State to constitute the State Highway Commission for terms of two, four, six, eight and ten years respectively. The terms of the persons so appointed shall be determined by lot.

SECTION 3. Terms of Office of Members. Upon the expiration of the term of any member of the Commission, or for the amortization of bonds bearing interest at not more than four per cent per annum issued for such purposes, the Commission shall be reduced to the number of members then in office, and the vacancies shall be filled by appointment of the Governor for the unexpired term of such vacancy. Upon failure of the Governor to fill the vacancy within thirty days, the remaining Commissioners shall make the appointment for the unexpired term.

SECTION 4. The Commission shall appoint a Director of Highways who shall have such duties as may be prescribed by the Commission or by statute.

MacArthur's Aide Joins Ike's Camp

Robert I. Eichelberger (left), top aide to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the occupation of Japan, has voiced his support for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination.

Interviewed by the Asheville Citizen at his home here yesterday, Eichelberger also criticized aspects of the role played in politics by his old chief, MacArthur. Eichelberger, 60 years old and retired since December, 1948, said he had reached his decision to support Eisenhower after "traveling extensively for eight months and talking to thousands of people."

Eichelberger added:

"When one talks personally to the foregoing terms of said Commission, a successor shall be appointed by the Governor in the manner provided for in Section 2 for a term of ten years, which for each member of the Commission.

SECTION 4. Removal of Members — Hearing — Review and Appeal. A Commissioner may be removed by the Governor only for the same causes as apply to other constitutional officers after a hearing which may be reviewed by the Chancery Court for the First District with right of appeal therefrom to the Supreme Court, such review and appeal to be without presumption in favor of the removal.

SECTION 5. Vacancies—Filling. Vacancies on the Commission due to resignations, death or removal shall be filled by appointment of the Governor for the unexpired term of such vacancy. Upon failure of the Governor to fill the vacancy within thirty days, the remaining Commissioners shall make the appointment for the unexpired term.

SECTION 6. The Commission shall appoint a Director of Highways who shall have such duties as may be prescribed by the Commission or by statute.

Never Offered Demo Backing Ike Asserts

By BILL BECKER

DENVER (AP)—President Truman never offered Gen. Dwight Eisenhower the 1952 Democratic presidential nomination. The general is not interested in any third party move this year.

This and more were disclosed by Eisenhower the past weekend during his swift western swing, which touched at Dallas, Las Vegas, Nev., and giant Hoover Dam.

Hibackers say that as a result of a five-hour Nevada sojourn yesterday, the general picked up three and possibly more delegates to the Republican National Convention. The busy aspirant for the GOP presidential nomination arrived here by plane late last night. He will make a telecast from 10 to 10:15 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time) tonight, taking issue with his rival, Sen. Robert A. Taft on matters of foreign policy. The Denver talk will be televised nationally by the National Broadcasting Company.

Eisenhower touched off his fireworks at Dallas. At a news conference there yesterday he flatly denied that Truman had ever of-

Prisoners Are Being Screened on Kojima Base

KOJIMA ISLAND, Korea (AP)—The United Nations Command today screened 4,000 North Korean civilian internees on whether they wished to return to their Communist homeland in event of an armistice.

The screening took place without incident in a tent inside a compound. Plans are to screen about 4,000 daily until 45,000 have been questioned.

The 45,000 have been counted by the U. N. Command among the 70,000 POWs they say want to be repatriated. About 100,000 captured Reds have said they would resist repatriation.

Results of the latest screening will be announced after the Reds' peace negotiators have been given the figures.

Those questioned today were read a message from the command, saying the POWs would be given amnesty for any anti-Communist activity. It declared: "We wholeheartedly welcome the return of all of our captured personnel to the arms of the motherland; we have further guaranteed, in an agreement reached with the other side, that all captured personnel shall, after their repatriation, rejoin their families to participate in peaceful construction and live a peaceful life."

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

NORRIS' mind had been working slowly but steadily. She asked, looking from Gamadge to Nord, "Is it something else?"

"Well, yes, but—" "Why would Jerome Austen be watching, afraid to meet anybody going home?" "That felly was killed around the corner on Saturday."

"She stood biting her knuckles; her little eyes had an inward look. Then as Gamadge suddenly turned to the window, with Nordhall beside him, she came and peered out too."

A big car was at the curb, with two smaller ones behind it; something of a crowd came down the steps of the house. There was a hunched female figure, wrapped in furs, with the policeman helping her; there was a man, escorted by two others—Gamadge would hardly have known him for Jerome Austen. He hung back a little, his face was bluish-gray and shining; his hat wouldn't stay on his head, but he off twice, exposing ruffled hair. He stumbled getting into the car.

Nordhall said: "Bayles took his shock better than these people do."

"He hadn't so much on his mind."

Norah asked faintly: "Am I still in charge of the house?" "Certainly you are," Nordhall assured her. "Mr. Bayles will be along any time to consult with you, and of course we'll want to know your immediate plans. Mustn't lose touch with us."

"The other officials had got into their cars, and had driven away. Gamadge and Nordhall, with the sergeant faithfully at their heels, left the basement and went out into the street by the rear gate."

"Well, I suppose we'd better go on from here," said Nordhall, standing with the others on the curb. "Have yourself a cigarette, Ryder, it's the last you'll get for a while."

"You don't seem pleased," remarked Gamadge.

Gov. Russell is a Republican but not a member of the Nevada delegation.

At the dam, Ike was greeted by Bureau of Reclamation officials who showed him the works. The general was impressed.

"This is a wonderful accomplishment," he said. "It combines flood control, irrigation and power in one project, and it was not taken out of the taxpayers' pockets but is self-paying."

Two Deaths Boost State Toll to 16

By The Associated Press

The death of a 16-year-old high school student as a result of a swimming mishap and a Mexican farm worker from injuries received in a highway accident yesterday (Sunday) raised Arkansas violent death toll to 16 for the week ending Sunday midnight.

Hollis Guy Pruitt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Guy Pruitt of the Stony Point community died in a Seaway hospital of injuries received Thursday night when he dived into a friend at the Seaway swimming pool.

Jividal Acebedo, Mexican farm employe, died at a Blytheville hospital of injuries received when his car overturned Friday near that East Arkansas city.

farmers, to electricians, and to technicians—the men who constitute the great backbone of this country—one finds an unusual sentiment for Eisenhower and for no other Republican."

There was no immediate comment from MacArthur in New York City on Eichelberger's interview.

MacArthur, who will deliver the keynote speech at the Republican National Convention next month, is supporting Sen. Robert A. Taft for the nomination.

Eichelberger, who commanded the Eighth Army in the Pacific during part of the war and after, discussed MacArthur's presidential aspirations years back.

MacArthur, he declared, had not always considered it a "tragic development" to elect a military man as President.

In 1947, Eichelberger said, MacArthur told him he hoped Eisenhower would remove himself as a presidential possibility and declare for MacArthur in 1948. MacArthur was quoted as saying he then would step aside for Eisenhower in 1952.

Eichelberger said that antagonism toward Eisenhower may have caused MacArthur to change his mind about the desirability of a military man as President.

In the interview, Eichelberger referred frequently to three volumes he said were his daily journals.

He said he knew "at first hand" Gen. MacArthur's hopes of being selected as a presidential nominee in 1944 and 1948.

Eichelberger said that early in 1948 he received an offer to do some writing, and:

"He (MacArthur) asked me to write the editor . . . to wait until the final determination was made as to whether he (MacArthur) was to be selected as the (GOP) nominee for President."

"If he were nominated, I was to stand ready to take his place as supreme commander, Allied Powers, and he would be available for selection as the head of the con-
